It's that easy!

Tersa Beland and Nicole Getchell tied the knot in a beautiful outdoor wedding ceremony before friends and family this past Saturday, August 3rd at Pamperin Park outside Green Bay.

The couple had hoped for the approval and blessing of Union Congregational Church which they are members, but the controversy sparked a debate on the larger issue of whether to adopt what it calls an open and affirming policy regardless of sexual orientation. The couple's request had originally been approved by the church's Board of Deacons and Deaconesses, but was reversed when some church members pointed out there hadn't been a quorum for that vote. They argued that the decision should be made by the entire congregation.

Disappointed but not defeated, the couple went ahead with the wedding plans and were please that Mize and co-pastor Kay Krejci agreed to conduct the ceremony.

Nationally, the country has been debating the same issues and recently the federal government delt a blow to same sex marriages with a recent decision denying federal benefits and leaving the marriage issue to be decided by each state.

Ms. Getchell had stated to the Green Bay Press Gazette, "It would be nice to have a ceremony that is recognized by the state and a union with the leagal benefits of other marriages. Maybe that will come later."

The couple has been together for three years and were engaged a year ago.

Papa Joe

As you read this, think of me, I am in the Black Hills of S. Dakota enjoying the natural beauty of the area. Major attractions will be the throbbing V Twins and studs in leather and boots who gather for the annual Sturgis Rally Week. An uplifting experience (if you know what I mean). Sturgis can be fun, Red Neckerson and bros think it's Utopia. Like all places he haunts, sexual frustration is rampant (they don't walk that way for nothing) and anything goes if on the QT. Wish me happy hunting.

Because of the club's announcements, In My Opinion will not appear this issue and, before I forget, my E-mail address is PPAJOE@aol.com - not as listed in last issue; sorry if it caused any inconvenience.

When a brother club comes into town, the clan gathers. It was no exception when the Rodeo Riders did a successful club night at the Boot Camp on the 20th. It was a great time and the place was packed to the rafters. We didn't make it to the after hours party for it was already a full day, starting with an early AM breakfast ride. By the time 11:30 rolled around, we needed to hit the sack.

The next AM (11:00), much of the group met for eye openers and breakfast at The 1100 Club. Got to meet several new (to me) members of the Rodeo Riders. Two hot young studs, pumping the vitality of youth and beauty into a club of tired Tom J's, John C's and Papa Smurfs. Just kidding, guys. They (RRs) are coming back, c b low.

FYI there is no longer a Sunday beer bust at the Boot Camp. In fact, not for some time and Sunday hours are 3 PM to closing. Saturday the B.C. opens at 9 PM. Mon. thru Fri. it opens at 8 PM and until 10 PM Miller products are $1.00. Wed. is Leather night at the B.C. Special drink prices for those in leather and drawings for the right to pull an envelope which might have 99 cents or 100 bucks in it. Toward the end of the evening, the jackpot is played for. So, get out your leathers, boots, shorts and jock, accessorize to the max and get on down by 10 PM when it starts.

23 July, e mail announcement from the Oberons
Due to last Monday's closing of the Wreck Room, we have moved our August club night. It will be held Saturday, August 10 at the 1100 Club. Theme "Night of the Living Fantasy - or, Homeless in Milwaukee"; 10pm-1am.

For the next few months we will (hopefully) be doing guest club nights at more than one bar. Future club night locations, including the annual Christmas Club for Children with AIDS (yes, we intend to keep that going), are yet to be determined. I'll let you know about it as soon as possible. signed T Jones.

Rumor had it that the Argonauts of Wis. were about to announce the grand opening of their new kitchen, "Helga's Diner", at the NorthWoods site. Helga, a green hair beauty with size OOOOO (that's 5) piercings will preside over this gourmet 3 3/8 star of dining experience. Also, heard new "dorm rooms" are planned. If you like sounds of pleasure, this is the place to bunk (shades of Finlandia).

Here is their E-mail message slightly edited.

sbj: Argonauts of Wi Northwoods 22.5

The brothers are working diligently in preparation for their run. A booth has been added already and after MANY years of whining, "HELGA" has her new kitchen on the main floor. We hope to add a few new "sleeping" rooms and a new dungeon if time permits.

The run is August 16-18. The fee of $85.00 includes all your food, cocktails and fun for the weekend. For more information contact Steve Jones "DIVA" (414)406-8091 E-Mail: TenderBar@aol.com

I am supressing my comment(s) about another Diva. Maybe not for long.

If you didn't know, the AOWs of Green Bay, is the longest running Leather group in Wis. For more than 15 years, they have been doing outdoor runs. A nice change of pace, lots of fun, many run marriages and for the adventurists, new experiences can be "shared". It is a great place for the novice leatherman to explore, and, based on the price which includes all, the least costliest run I know.

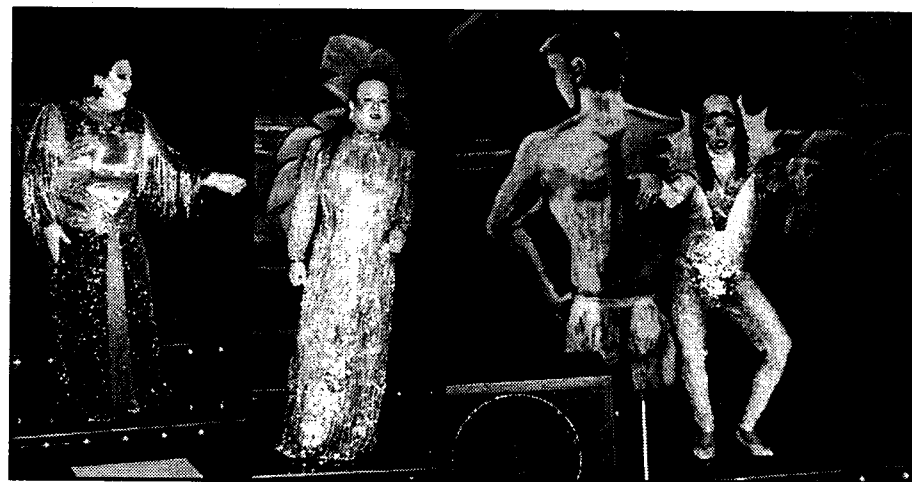

And from the Castaways, a press release again slightly edited. "The Castaways MC will be holding a beer and soda bust at The 1100 Club. Saturday, August 24, at 10 PM to kick off the Get Linked program.

The "Get Linked" program is the idea of Joe Gallagher, 1996 International Mr. Leather and Mr. Jeff Affolter, Mr. Chicago Leather 1996. Get Linked will be a physical chain made from individual links contributed by members of the leather community. The entire chain will be displayed at the International Mr. Leather in 1997, after which it will be turned over to the Leather Archive and Museum in Chicago. To participate, members of the leather community are asked to bring one metal chain link of reasonable size, slightly open on the end and suitable for attaching to another link. Each link should be accompanied by a card with the person's name. The name will be recorded in the "Get Linked" directory. For archival purposes the person's complete name and address is requested. This information will not be made public.

Mr. Chicago Leather, 1996, Jeff Affolter will be at the beer bust and will have chain links available. There will not be a charge for the links.

The Castaways will donate a portion of the party proceeds to the "Get Linked" project to help defray the cost of the chain links.

Saturday, Sept. 7, the Rodeo Riders of Chicago and the Castaways will do a joint club night at the 1100 Club from 10 PM on. A fun evening is planned with a beer and soda bust and prizes throughout the evening. For further information contact Bob P at 764-1135

I'm Not on the Market!

More thoughts by Jess Littleman

Well, ladies and gentlemen, it finally happened. After a long and diligent search, I have given up looking for Mr. Right.

I had tried a handful of first dates, let the word get around that I was available, checked back with a few old fuckbuddies, and almost started sleeping around again. Although not clinically depressed, I was on the verge of the world of afternoon soaps and 900 numbers for companionship. So, instead of paying $1.99 a minute to have some poor schmuck tell me, 'Why, I do just happen to look like Austin from Days?' I decided to become a single again. Maybe I was still recovering from the LTR I had with Aaron. It's possible that, because I knew exactly what I wanted in a relationship, but didn't have a clue to what I wanted in a partner, I had set up impossible-to-fill shoes. Or, could it be I just was sending out that 'let's shack up for life' vibe I know every possible bar pick-up smells and shies away from. In reality, I'm sure it was a combination of all three.

So, after checking out all of my options, I decided the best alternative was to put this on hold for a while. I'd decided to go outside and enjoy the summer, talk to my therapist, get some writing done, and not sweat the whole deal. I mean, attractive gay men have been around at least since the fall of the Ancient Greeks, so they'd probably still be around in a couple of months.

To celebrate this change of life, I got my butt to the bar to buy some beers and shake dice. I said I wasn't going to date, but that doesn't mean I was going out of social circulation! It felt good to be out and about, but there wasn't any of that internal pressure to be—well, whatever we become when we're alone and lonely. I felt melancholy, relaxed. I felt an inch taller, and it was like I was smiling inside to myself. I wanted to hear that damn 'change in my pocket' twenty-four hours a day.

Right, to recap: I stopped looking. I was feeling good. I was out at a bar, and I was smiling. I was buying drinks, and have a little myself. So I never even looked or thought twice when what's his-name got up from his barstool and came over to me to say hello. I hadn't really seen him out or talked to him since 'the big breakup,' so I was happy to see him again. After some small talk catch-up, he asked me to dance. Since I had actually requested that particular song, of course I said yes. Fortunately, one of the barstaff asked him if he needed another beer before we went out to the floor, so I didn't have to fumble around for his name—Randy.

For the rest of the night, we talked, danced, lit each other's cigarettes, made faces at each other and had a good time. His friends had ditched him by bar time, so I offered him a ride back to his place. We were making plans to see each other again for lunch later on that week.

It was when I had let Randy out of the car when he told me how he'd been attracted to me ever since the first time we met. Randy told me he wanted to tell me a long time ago, but I was always hanging around Aaron and didn't want to get in the way if Aaron and I were together. Admirable and correct. Then we stepped closer together, we kissed, smiled, and kissed again. We've been nearly inseparable since.

If this story has a moral, I'm not consciously aware of it. I will say that the universe does work in mysterious—and yet, almost predictable—ways. But, that's too deep for me to contemplate today. I'm enjoying falling in love again. —Jess Littleman is a regular contributor to Quest Magazine.
