able to do so successfully have also been helped by a therapist knowledgeable about the developmental steps necessary for establishing a healthy identity as a gay man; and to sustain sexual, intimate, and mutually loving relationships. These developmental steps are essential not to enhance the quality of life but to equip them to deal better with those losses, slights, indignities, and injuries that often accompany being openly gay in our society. Heterosexual marriages may work for some, but over time they usually contribute to a homosexual man's feeling isolated, lonely unauthentic, and frustrated, as the case histories have illustrated. In general, I believe that any homosexual man will live a healthier, more gratifying life if he is able to express his sexual orientation in an intimate, sexual relationship with another man in which he feels loved and loving."

The quote of Peter Tchaikovsky after his marriage in 1887, "All that is left is to pretend. But to pretend to the end of one's life is the highest torment," sums up in my opinion, the pain of covering one's homosexuality and not being true to one's self. He has also written some other excellent chapters in this book including the Coming Out Process, the Homosexual Adolescent, Becoming Gay as an Older Homosexual Man, and Developing a Positive Gay Identity with HIV or Aids. # Book in Review by Gerald J. Wellens, Ph.D.

Is it a Choice: Answers to 300 of the most Frequently asked questions about Gays and Lesbians:

By Eric Marcus., (Harper - San Francisco 1993)

The author presents 300 questions asked most frequently by gays, lesbians, and straights about being gay and presents thoughtful, insightful, and well researched answers.

Some questions are dramatically important: "Does the Gay Rights movement have its own Rosa Parks?" His answer. "Though there is only one Rosa Parks, Dr. Evelyn Hooker, a pioneering research psychologist, has been called by some people 'the Rosa Parks of the gay rights movement' Dr. Hooker, who is heterosexual, conducted a courageous study in the 1950's in which she compared the psychological profiles of thirty homosexual men and thirty heterosexual men. Dr. Hooker concluded that, contrary to the widely held belief that homosexuality was a mental illness, there were no significant differences between the two groups. Her findings ultimately led to the removal of homosexuality from the American Psychiatric Association's list of mental illnesses in 1973. This change in classification was one of the most important steps in the struggle for gay and lesbian equal rights."

Some questions reveal insight into our gay worries: "Do gay people in relationships have less sex over time?" The author's response: "Just like heterosexual couples, most gay and lesbian couples have less sex with each other over time."

Some questions destroy myths that even many of us gay people believe, such as that our relationships don't last long, so why bother even trying. The author says: "Gay and lesbian couple relationships, like heterosexual couple relationships, can last anywhere from a matter of days to a half-century or more. But because gay and lesbian people remain largely hidden, there are not accurate statistics on the number of gay and lesbian couples or the average length of these relationships." In the reviewer's judgement, we simply do not know the statistics, because most of the gay couples who stay together are not seen at the gay bars and many do not participate in the 'gay lifestyle'.

Some questions deal with the politics of societal prejudice against gays:

Author's question: "Are gay and lesbian people more likely to molest children?" His answer: "The most likely person to molest children is a heterosexual male. His most likely victim is a female child. For example, a study conducted by Children's Hospital in Denver, Colorado, found that between July 1, 1991 and June 30, 1992, only one of 387 cases of suspected child molestation involved a gay perpetrator. Overwhelmingly, the study found that boys and girls alike said they were abused by heterosexual male family members, including fathers, stepfathers, grandfathers, and uncles. [According to

Frank Bruni, a journalist who has written extensively about child molestation, "Men who molest pre-pubescent boys are most often - by a wide margin - heterosexual in any adult sexual involvements they may have." Frank has co-authored the book A Gospel of Shame: Children, Sexual Abuse, and the Catholic Church, published by Viking Penguin in 1993.] But no matter how many studies are done and how many statistics are quoted, there are people who continue to promote the lie that gay or lesbian is synonymous with child molester."

The author explains why most gay men highly value masculinity in themselves and their partners. The author explains why many lesbians value both masculinity and femininity in themselves and their partners.

I recommend reading this book and keeping it. Many of the answers are profound and touch our hearts. Paulette Goodman, former president of PFLAG said of this book:

"Straight answers to gay questions...timely and welcome, candid and informative, this book will do much to demystify homosexuality, especially if you think you know it all.

Becoming Gay: The Journey to Self Acceptance

By: Richard A. Isay, M.D., (Pantheon Books, 1996)

This book is written by an openly gay psychoanalyst in New York City. Chapter four entitled, "The Dilemma of Heterosexually Married Homosexual Men," I believe is especially insightful. He states that, "whether he denies or is aware of his sexual orientation, any homosexual man who marries does so, in my clinical experience, because of early self-esteem injury that has caused him to see his homosexuality as bad, sinful, or sick." He very eloquently states on page 117 how to heal this pain: "The understanding and repair of self-esteem injury is only the first step, albeit a crucial one, for those who desire to make the mid-life transition from marriage to what they perceive as more passionate and authentic life. Those who are

Woody's Bar - Nice article, Jess, about Ray. He is a sweetheart along with his partner, Steve. BTW, ran into Steve and showed him the picture of Tina Purtrash taken at SWS Docks AIDS Walk Carnival. He got real excited and promised trash like that would not be allowed in the new bar. I hope he sticks to it.

We took in the annual Steny's Harley Giveaway where we held some tickets - Would you believe it, the first name out of the barrel was Jack H (something or other ending in ski). We believe him to be the person we know as Honda Jack. Had he had been there, we could start calling him Harley Jack for he would be the proud owner of a '97 HD Sportster.

The Atons of Minneapolis - sent out a press release from which the following is lifted.

"— The Atons of Minneapolis returned sponsorship dollars to the management of The Gay 90's Thursday, August 14, 1997. The money was intended for their Atons 25.

Earlier this summer, The Gay 90's, a local nightclub complex, agreed to be a major sponsor of the Atons run. As a part of the sponsorship agreement, the Atons of Minneapolis agreed to hold two events at the nightclub complex during the week-end. Because of the atmosphere of the club, created by its current clientele, the Atons felt it would be best to return the money and arrange for the events to be held at other locations.

Although the management of The Gay 90's feels it has done everything possible to ensure the safety and security of its patrons, the Atons are still concerned for the comfort and well-being of their guests." FMI, contact the Atons at 1-888-55ATONS or website: <http://www.starbase21.com/ATONS>. Atons/Chrys Zaglifa

The above confirms what was said while at the Argonaut and Castaways joint run when from my long time friends of the Atons and The Black Guard clubs.

They express concern with the change of clientele management appears to encourage, leaving them uncomfortable and a bit afraid that something unpleasant could happen. Such things like booked bachelorette parties and the majority of drag show audience being straight. One said it was like bus loads of straights come to gawk at the Queers.

Knowing the Atons, the replacement events will be as much or more fun.

While on the subject of the Argonauts and Castaways' joint run, I have been copied in on three messages between the two clubs which indicate the Joint run will happen again next year, they will formalize the agreement on Oct 4th (when both clubs will be attending the PrideFest volunteer recognition dinner) & start the planning for 1998.

The Argonauts - have already put the plans for "Winter Quest". Because of the support of the gay communities in the Fox Valley, "Winterquest" will be held in Green Bay, Jan. 16 to 18, 1998.

The Argonauts would like to congratulate Terry and Brandy's II, on their 5th anniversary, celebrated thru Sept. 21 when The bar will be having many special events. The Argonauts will be selling tickets to win a Green Bay Packer bear with the proceeds to go toward the "Argonaut Charities Inc." The winners will be drawn during halftime of the Packer game, Sept. 21.

Gary and I were in Milwaukee on Saturday, and stopped in to visit the Firebirds at their club night at the Boot Camp. We thank the Firebirds for the welcome they showed us while in Milwaukee. We had a great time and the brotherhood was much appreciated.

Argonauts/Russ

The Unicorns and Castaways will be holding a joint club night at the 1100 Club on Oct. 4, 1997. There will be a beer and soda bust along with prizes. The club night will begin at 10 pm.

Mark your calendars for Saturday, October 18. The annual Castaways bar crawl to Chicago will take place. The bus leaves The 1100 Club at 7:30 pm and arrive back at 6 am. Cost is $20.

For $5, breakfast will be available at the 1100 Club upon return. Tickets are available from Castaway members.

On Sat. Nov. 8, 1997, Castaways will hold their 18th anniversary dinner at the M&M Club.

The Castaways held a club night at the South Water Street Docks, Sat., Aug. 23 and donated the $286 raised to The AIDS Walk.

Also from the The Castaways --Recently, because the host bar said there were no other nights available, another club began holding their club nights on the first Sat. of the month, the same night the CMC had been claimed for 18 years.

Starting in 1998 the Castaways will be holding

Records in Review

BREAKAWAY by France Joli (Popular Records)

Popular Records is pleased to announce the release of "Breakaway," the second Popular single from Canadian singer France Joli. The follow-up to the club hit, "Touch," "Breakaway" has been remixed by Junior Vasquez, Tony Green (the original producer), rising New York underground star Eddie Baez, Guiseppe D. (NYC) and the Boomtang Boys (Canada).

France Joli's first Popular Records single, Touch, peaked on the Billboard Dance Chart at #20, at #9 on the EPROM (national record pool chart for the U.S.), and hit #1 on the DMA HINRG/International Dance Pop Chart. The Spike Mix by remixer Darrin Friedman (NYC) of Touch was the #1 record for two months at Arena-the New York nightclub where superstar DJ Junior Vasquez spins and remains a staple in his set. Such a fan is he that he approached Popular to remix "Breakaway" for France Joli.

Known and loved by millions for her massive Disco/Pop hits, the fabulous France Joli is truly one of the best loved stars to emerge from the glittering Disco Era.

France Joli was recently photographed for the October issue (just arrived on the stands) of the fashion and music magazine Detour by photographer Dan Chavkin.

Italian pop star Alexia makes her U.S. debut with her two biggest Euro-pop hit singles Me & You and Number One. Popular has released this special "double A-side" single in anticipation of her debut album, Fun Club, street date Oct. 28.

Alexia, 30, began singing in clubs since the age of four, picked up piano lessons at seven, dancing lessons at 12, and by the time she entered the DWA stable as a studio vocalist had become a seasoned club singer, having performed around Europe with a number of professional acts.

Michael W. Rodriguez (MWR, ink) sent Quest the Kiss Me Guido soundtrack from the movie of the same name on dv8 Records. This release has only been out on the street since Sept. 9, and it's slammin'! It's packed full of classic dance hits such as "There But For the Grace of God Go I, by Machine and "So Many Men So Little Time, by Miquel Brown plus there's Love Tribe's "Stand Up" a newer release. If you love older dance tunes from the early 80's, you'll just love this soundtrack. The movie looks like a fun time as well, but alas it won't be playing in this town and I haven't gotten hold of a tape to review. I'll just have to wait for the video release, but until then we can both enjoy the music!

A note from Michael says, "After beginning the Gay & Lesbian Marketing Department for Atlantic Records, I have continued G/L Marketing for other record companies; as usual, I'm just keeping all of us in the loop of music that's out there (being marketed to us as a community)!"

Finally Capitol Records sent us Electric Barbarella, by Duran Duran. First we got the CD single and later a 12 vinyl full of remixes. Duran Duran fans will be happy to get their hands on some new material. It's decidedly dance oriented, but not the same old stuff they have given us before. Check it out.

PAST/OUT

BY DAVID BIANCO

WHO WAS SAPPHO?

The very term "lesbian" refers to the most famous resident of the Greek Isle of Lesbos. Sappho, who lived in the seventh century before the common era, was a celebrated poet whose sexuality has been the source of controversy for more than two millennia.

It is difficult to speak with much historical certainty about events and personalities that took place more than 2500 years ago, especially when written sources are scarce. In the case of Sappho, less than 10 percent of her poetry has survived, and much of what we have is fragmentary. Nonetheless, Sappho's literary reputation has garnered much attention, and some biographical details are fairly clear.

Sappho was born to an aristocratic family in the town of Eressos on the southwest coast of Lesbos. Her mother was a Lesbian, her father was a Lesbian - and she had three Lesbian brothers as well. She may have been in charge of a girls' school, and she wrote nine books of lyric poetry. Her poetic genius was such that a few centuries after her death, Plato wrote, "Some say the Muses are nine, but how carelessly! Look at the tenth, Sappho from Lesbos."

Most of the surviving poetic fragments from Sappho's repertoire have come from Greek and Roman authors who quote her - from a few words to several lines - in their own works. In addition, some fragments of papyrus and a shard of pottery with lines from her poetry have been found in Egypt. Because her surviving works are so fragmentary - and because sung Greek poetry doesn't translate easily into written English - it is difficult to convey the power Sappho's corpus had over the ancients. Nonetheless, her works continue to fascinate modern readers, especially those interested in her expressions of affection for other women.

The closest we have to a surviving complete Sapphic poem is her "Hymn to Aphrodite," in which she celebrates her affectionate relationship with the Goddess of Love. In the song, Aphrodite asks Sappho which woman is currently causing her heartache, and reassures the poet that "if she won't love you, she soon will."

In another song, Sappho expresses her jealousy for a man who is able to talk calmly with a beautiful woman. In contrast, for Sappho,

"the instant I look upon you,
I cannot anymore speak one word,
But in silence my tongue is broken,
a fine fire at once runs under my skin,
with my eyes I see not one thing,
my ears buzz,
Cold sweat covers me,
trembling seizes my whole body,
I am more moist than grass;
I seem to be little short of dying..."

Although the lesbian desire in the above fragment is unmistakable, many interpreters have argued that the poem actually signifies Sappho's celebration of one of her students' heterosexual engagements.

The heterosexualization of Sappho has often had comic or ironic results. In his Lesbian Love: Old and New, published in the United States in 1966, Walter Braun argued, "In fact Sappho was a heterosexual, who in her attitude towards girls under her care can be compared with the attitude Socrates took to the boys he had to educate." Well, sort of.

Many writers have pointed to ancient sources that claim Sappho had a husband named Kerkylas from the island of Andros. But the Greek word kerkos (tail) is common slang for penis, and andro- means male. Claiming that a prominent woman-loving woman had a husband named, essentially, "Dick from Manville" is at best dubious evidence of her heterosexuality.

While many scholars have tried to interpret away Sappho's erotic attraction for women, others have tried to destroy her work altogether. One reason so few of her poems have survived is that much of her work was burned by Christian zealots in late antiquity.

Despite such persecution, Sappho's work and reputation have had a major influence on modern lesbian identity. Obviously the terms "Sapphic" and "lesbian" owe their origin to the Greek poet, but her influence is far greater. Many 20th century lesbian poets, such as Amy Lowell and May Sarton, refer directly to Sappho in their work. A seminal text in the lesbian-feminist movement of the early 1970s was entitled Sappho was a Right-On Woman. And for the last 25 years, a British organization named Sappho has organized social, political, and literary activities for lesbians.

The Michigan Womyns Music Festival. As a first time participant of the Michigan Womyns Music Festival, I'll have to admit I balked at the label of "Festie Virgin", when it was shouted down the line as we entered the 650 acres of land. I wasn't the only virgin in our entourage, in fact three out of four of us were "Festie Virgins". The other was our Michigan Goddess, who showed us the ropes, and what to do with them!!

This was the 22nd year of the festival, to celebrate, unite and bask in the glory of the diversity of womyn. For one week a community of tents and RV's springs up from an otherwise barren land to provide stages and tents for performers, workshops, Craftwomyns's Bazaar and for the vegetarian food line.

Areas to camp in are sectioned off to accommodate individual needs while creating an opportunity to explore the many facets within our community.

From all walks of life, womyn come to the festival and experienced the energy, the music, the laughter, the constant flowing current of love for one another within a community that was created by womyn for womyn.

As I sat at night around the campfire surrounded by drummers, dancers and campfire admirers, I was in awe of the underlying inner strength in each of us that was magnified by faces alone.

If all it takes is one week out of the year to replenish our power and remind us of our individual beauty, I now understand the importance of this festival and the reason why womyn trek from all over the world to Michigan. - Next year, maybe I can be a goddess!!

Diane G aka Legs

I asked Legs if she would do a short piece for the column after she explained this festival not only allowed, but welcome diversity in the participants.

This is a change from what my sister told me after she and her companion attended it several times. It seems that there is no longer an agenda nor is it as pc uptight as before. This was the only negative comment I've ever heard of this otherwise wonderful festival. I thought you might want to know about the change.

D/s Dominant/subservient (much edited message)

I'm Princess Dan'alah, I have, in the past couple of days, got ahold of Quest, I saw your column and had to write.

Gay Rights Activist, Nobel Prize Winner to Hold Historic Meeting in South Africa

Los Angeles--History will be made Dec. 10 when the Rev. Troy D. Perry, internationally known religious leader and gay rights activist, meets with the Most Rev. Dr. Desmond Tutu, Anglican Archbishop Emeritus of Capetown, So. Africa and recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize.

Perry is founder and moderator of the Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches (UFMCC), the world's largest Christian denomination with a primary ministry to gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgendered persons.

"I look forward to a wide-ranging discussion of our mutual human rights interest," said Perry, "and to furthering our commitment to spiritual justice around the world."

Cong. Jay Johnson Co-Sponsors Employment Non-Discrimination Act

U.S. Rep. Jay Johnson, whose 8th congressional district covers much of northeastern Wisconsin in the House of Representatives, has announced being an official co-sponsor of the Employment Non-

Discrimination Act (H.R. 1858), commonly referred to as "ENDA."

Says Johnson: "I firmly believe that every worker should be judged solely on his or her ability to perform their job. People who work hard, pay their taxes, and contribute to the economic well-being of our nation should not be kept from leading productive and responsible lives or live in fear of losing their jobs. We have had an even stronger ban on discrimination based on sexual orientation in Wisconsin since 1982 and I think that it is time for these protections to be put in place on a national level!"

"Milwaukee City Attorney Can't Have It Both Ways", says Madison Quest Reader Dan Ross

Editor's Note: Quest is pleased to print Dan Ross' comments in full:

"The Milwaukee City Attorney's office claims that Milwaukee Ald. Paul Henningsen's initial proposal (to provide health insurance for same-sex domestic partners of city employees) discriminates against heterosexuals. This is based on the Wisconsin Fair Employment Act's inclusion of sexual orientation.

At the same time, the City Attorney's office cites a 1992 Appeals Court ruling that says that limiting benefits to an employee's spouse and children 'applies equally to hetero- and homosexual employees and thus does not discriminate against the latter group,' and continues with the insulting, though legally accurate, proposition that homosexuals can marry someone of the opposite sex and thus receive benefits.
