BY DAVID BIANCO

October 31, 1968 (29 years ago this week): Ramon Novarro is found murdered in his Los Angeles home.

Who was Ramon Novarro?

One of the most interesting gay Hollywood lives came to an end the night before Halloween in 1968 when Ramon Novarro, screen legend who once rivaled Rudolph Valentino, was murdered in his Los Angeles home.

Born Jose Ramon Samaniegos in Durango, Mexico, in 1899, the future star was descended from Aztec nobility and Spanish conquistadors. He moved to the United States as a 14 year old, and worked as a grocery clerk and cafe singer before breaking into Hollywood in a series of bit parts. The actor, rechristened Ramon Novarro, had his big break in 1922, when gay director Rex Ingram cast him as the villain in "The Prisoner of Zenda." At the time, America was experiencing a "Latin lover" craze because of Valentino's success, and Novarro was quickly cast in several more films. In 1925, Novarro played a shirtless, muscular galley slave in the silent version of "Ben Hur."

Publicly, Novarro was seen as a ladies' man, rumored to be linked romantically with Myrna Loy as well as Greta Garbo, with whom he co-starred in 1931's "Mata Hari" (Novarro was the one who uttered the famous line, "What's the matter, Mata?"). Newspaper and magazine writers promoted this heterosexual image, although some noticed another side of Novarro. One described him as "dark, stunningly handsome (although his looks are somewhat effeminate) and seductive."

Novarro took few pains to hide his preference for men, however. One writer described how studio bosses had to "look the other way when Novarro made a beeline for the electrician with the tightest trousers." The star struck up a friendship/romance with Valentino, who presented Novarro with a black, lead, Art Deco dildo in 1923 with a silver inscription of Valentino's signature. Novarro also threw the wildest sex parties in Hollywood, often tied to current movies. For example, guests at Novarro's "Ben Hur" party wore nothing but Roman sandals and leather headbands. At his "Tarzan" party, the guests wore only leopard-skin wristbands, while their host (clad only in a leather thong) swung back and forth on a vine hanging from the ceiling.

But Novarro's stardom was not to last. In the early 1930s, MGM mogul Louis B. Mayer demanded that the gay star marry, and when he refused, Novarro found his contract canceled. He played few roles in the 1940s, and in 1950 went to Rome where he was granted an audience with the Pope. He proclaimed his intention to beg forgiveness of his sins and pray at holy shrines throughout Italy. This religious phase was short-lived, and he returned to Hollywood to take bit parts (including his last role as a Mexican bandito on TV in 1968).

By 1968, Novarro was a 69-year-old fat, bald alcoholic living in Los Angeles' Laurel Canyon and spending his money on hustlers he would pick up on the Sunset Strip. His wealth was legendary among the rough trade set, many of whom had no idea Novarro was even an actor.

Two brothers, Paul and Tom Ferguson, who had run away from Chicago, were living on the streets in Los Angeles turning tricks and stealing. They heard Novarro had $5,000 hidden in his home, and they hoped to steal that cash and use it to return to the Midwest. On October 30, 22-year-old Tom and 17-year-old Paul arrived at Novarro's home and found the actor nude and passed out from drinking.

As the brothers searched the home for valuables, especially among the screen legend's hundreds of souvenirs from his film career, Novarro awoke and shouted for help. The Fergusons then began attacking him, and Paul grabbed an ivory-tipped cane and struck the former star repeatedly with it. In an attempt to muffle Novarro's screams, Tom grabbed another of Novarro's souvenirs and shoved it down the actor's throat. It was the black dildo Valentino had given him almost forty years earlier.

Soon Novarro was dead, and the Ferguson brothers realized they had to plant some misleading clues to avoid being caught and tried for murder. They trashed the house, tied Novarro's body up, wrote the name "Larry" in several places in the house, and scrawled the following message on the mirror: "Us girls are better than fagits."

This feint was less than successful, especially since they stole two of Novarro's outfits and left their own blood-soaked clothes in a neighbor's yard. A few days later, they were arrested and charged with murder. They were convicted and sentenced to life in prison, but freed on parole just seven years into their sentence.

have been without the illness. The limitations of this book are because it was written in the 1970's and not updated. However still, this book is a classic guide to help parents accept their children's gay/lesbian identity and to help them to acceptance to be happier adults and to help their child's relationships through the parents validation and acceptance.

Beyond Acceptance: Parents of Lesbians and Gays Talk About Their Experiences.

by Carolyn Welch Griffin, Marlan J. Wirth, and Arthur G. Wirth. Revised and Updated Edition: St. Martin's Press, New York 1986 & 1996.

This is the most up-to-date book out for parents to work through their gay child's coming out as gay or lesbian. Based upon discussion and interviews conducted with parents belonging to PFLAG (Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbians and Gays), a support and advocacy group with over four hundred chapters internationally, Beyond Acceptance provides parents with the comfort and knowledge needed to accept their gay children and build stronger relationships with them. It provides accurate, documented answers to the questions that surface after the initial shock and addresses such concerns as: "Is it a choice?" Can it be changed?" and "Did the parents 'cause' their child to be gay?" This book Beyond Acceptance is superior to Fairchild's & Hayward's Now That You Know in the area of including the most recent scientific data for "causality" of homosexuality - the author supports the biological, genetic, and hormonal factors as being significantly involved. They also use scientific literature to disprove 12 myths.

Myth #1 - Neurotic Family Patterns Cause Homosexuality.

Myth #2 - Acting like a Sissy or Tomboy Causes People to be Gay

Myth #3 - Homosexual Seduction Causes Children to be Gay

Myth #4 - A Traumatic Event with a Person of the Opposite Sex can cause Homosexuality

Myth #5 - Gay and Lesbian People are Mentally Sick

Myth #6 - Gays and Lesbians are far and few Between

Myth #7 - Gays and Lesbians Choose It and Therefore They can Change It

Myth #8 - Gays and Lesbians are Easy to Identify

Myth #9 - Gay and Lesbian Persons are Poor Parents. It will Harm Children to Live with the Same-Sex Parents

Myth #10 - All Gay and Lesbian People are Oversexed and Indiscriminately Promiscuous

Myth #11 - Gays and Lesbians Live a Lonely Life and Contribute Nothing to Society

Myth #12 - AIDS is a Male Homosexual Disease

In Beyond Acceptance the authors creatively divided "Religious Thinking in Transition" into four prevailing religious attitudes.

1. The Rejecting-Punitive Attitude
2. The Rejecting-Non-Punitive Attitude
3. The Qualified Acceptance Attitude
4. The Full Acceptance Attitude

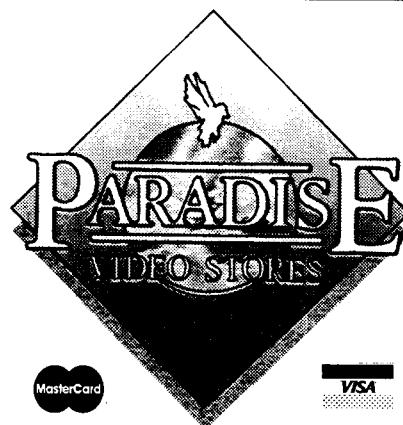

Using information current to 1995, the authors help us to understand how each of our Faiths perceive us as gays and lesbians. I believe Beyond Acceptance is a "must" read for anyone planning on coming out to their family. The chapter "Levels of Understanding" clearly point out that parents especially go through three levels of understanding with level 1 being "self-centered concern" where parents cannot give acceptance and are preoccupied with their own grieving of their gay child's coming out. In the beginning, parents have a need to get control of their feelings while maintaining contact with their gay child. They describe this focus as "Level 1 of understanding." When parents are at that level, they direct their actions and attention primarily towards themselves. Easing their own inner conflicts is their prime goal. It may take months for a parent to get to Level 2 Understanding - "child centered concern." This is what the gay person was looking for in the beginning. It's important to not see rejection when parents go through Level 1 and deal with their own pain first. Level 3 is when parents become concerned for all gays and lesbians and their parents. The book ends like Now That You Know with a heart-rending chapter on AIDS & The Family. I strongly recommend both books for anyone planning on coming out to their parents - read them first and then give them to your parents. It will save you and your parents immense pain in achieving "beyond acceptance."

Now That You Know What Every Parent Should Know About Homosexuality

By: Betty Fairchild & Nancy Hayward: Updated Edition 1989 with a new Chapter on Aids and the Family Harcourt Brace Jovanovich Publisher: New York

This book was initially written in 1979 and clearly was the classic book for gays and lesbians to share with their parents to assist them in the coming out and acceptance stage. The authors updated the book in 1989 by adding a two page introduction and a forty page chapter on Aids and the Family that was written in 1989. Also the bibliography is updated to 1989 and is a good over-view of the books that would be good to read for parents up to 1989. In many ways this book clearly still has a lot to offer parents of gays and lesbians. One of the most impressive recommendations is this quote on page 46, "Ask your children to teach you (how it is to be gay). How else are we going to learn? What is meaningful to your child must be meaningful to you." They go on to say on page 54 "We are continually indebted to Deke for his patience and understanding, and for opening our minds for what being gay means, and for the many helpful books he has given us. Both Ed and I feel comfortable enough now to be able to talk about our son's gayness with pride." The authors also state that change, particularly in the area of deeply seated and hidden as human sexuality has been in the American Culture, is a very slow process in that parents need patience and time to deal with their deep seated homophobia. These parents make it clear that whatever the homophobia that their particular gay or lesbian child has, the parents have that plus probably more and they need help and patience to over-come those prejudice. One of the benefits is that each of the authors has a special contribution in which Betty Fairchild's contribution is having a gay son and Nancy Hayward's contribution is having a lesbian daughter. These two parents state emphatically, "Most of the parents we have heard from or about have moved beyond their initial heartaches, fears, and doubts; the attempt to see a new aspect of their gay child's life in a fresh and realistic perspective. All of us can learn from each other and we do, as we share our experiences and relate how we eliminated our old beliefs and attitudes. The practice of change, as many of us have said again and again, this one that has enriched our life and enhanced the awareness of ourselves, of our children, and of other people." Some of the weaknesses in the book are the attempt to discuss What is Gay in which many of these hypotheses are attitudes and information that are from the 1970's. Today's predominant genetic predisposition theory is partially validated by these authors but is nowhere near what the profession of psychiatry and psychology believes to be accurate today. I believe one of the important contributions of this book is the emphasis on how important parents are in validating a gay/lesbian child's identity as well as relationships and how much parents can contribute to an adult gay/lesbian child's life by just working hard at acceptance. In addition, their chapter on Aids and the Family is well done and does emphasize how this tragedy of Aids strengthens the love in the person's life with his family beyond what it would

Milwaukee LGBT Center

Milwaukee--The Milwaukee LGBT Community Center would like to thank the Human Rights League for Lesbians and Gays for the opportunity to collaborate on this year's successful National Coming Out Day (NCOD) Celebrations. HRL advocates for the political interests of the LGBT community on local, state and national levels.

At the Center's October 11 Town Hall meeting, a common question was "What is this LGBT Community Center?" The answer is simple; the Center is a group of volunteers dedicated to addressing the needs of Milwaukee's LGBT community. Currently, several of the Center's committees provide programs such as workshops, social events and collaborative events with other organizations. "But where is it?" The Center's facilities committee is currently in negotiations to secure a building that our community can call a "Home of Our Own."

Ring Records' Gay Apparel X-mas Songs CD Banned at Several National Record Store Chains

When the group "The Go Go Boys" set out to write and produce a CD of 14 Christmas standards with lyrics changed to something they called a little more fun, they ended up with a CD that will not appear in some of the national record store chains. The chains site the CD as being too risqué with too many mentions of body parts and things to do with them.

Ring records has gotten the CD into a couple of "big" stores such as Tower and Border, and they will order it for you if they are out of stock. Hundreds of local gay oriented bookstores and gift shops are also stocking the CD which sold over 5000 copies last year.

The CD was never intended for children. "This album is dedicated to every homosexual who feels abandoned of the holiday spirit. We thought humor was the best approach so don't be offended if you disagree with some of the lyrics. Who better to laugh at the gay situation than ourselves" states The Go Go Boys.

Woody's (2nd & Lapham, Milwaukee) is scheduled to be open mid November. Keep your eyes open. - and - This time, according to Miguel, The Milwaukee Eagle will open about the time this rag hits your favorite bar. Sorry about that. Next time, I will double check.

The Oberons had a fun club night (Oct. 11) at SWS Docks. Being DD, I had nothing better to do than chit-chat and take pictures. No - I don't know what was in the buckets, and knew better than to ask.

The following weekend "The Boot Hood" was premiered at the Docks and from there it was on to the Boot Camp. - Got a couple of shots, but they turned out either too dark or too washed out. I was sent some JPGs over the net. Because they were taken with a digital camera, I can not send in a hard copy. I am not sure if Mark can or will want to work with this format at this time.

While on the Oberons (and on some, I wish I were), this message; Oberons officers elected for 1997-98 at the Oct. 12 meeting:

Q: Worship time Sunday evening has changed, correct?

KH: Yes, as of October 26, our Sunday evening service in Green Bay is at 7:30. Morning service stays at 11:00; if we grow to the point of needing two Sunday morning services, which is indeed a possibility, we'll meet that contingency later. Appleton Sunday services are at 5 p. m. at 110 South Locust Street.

We look with awe into the future. What does God still have planned for Angels of Hope MCC? May we be ready to answer whatever challenges God may have in store for us.

Q: Tell us, please, Reverend Hull, about plans to dedicate your new Libal Street church.

KH: Our dedication will be on Sunday, November 16. The MCC Great Lakes district coordinator, Ms. Judy Dale (of Louisville, Kentucky), will be here to participate and bring the message. Come join us!

The previous evening, Saturday, November 15, Terry Lee Ousley will present a sacred concert. Terry was with us last February; his music is entertaining and inspiring. Terry will also sing and play at the Appleton service at 5 pm on Sunday, November 16.

We're looking forward to his return.

UFMCC Adopts New Mission/Vision Statements

Los Angeles---The Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches (UFMCC), the world's largest gay and lesbian spirituality organization, has announced adoption of a new mission and vision statement. The new statement was adopted during UFMCC's recent General Conference XVIII in Sydney, Australia.

It reads: "The Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches is a Christian Church founded in and reaching beyond the Gay and Lesbian communities. We embody and proclaim Christian salvation and liberation, Christian inclusivity and community, and Christian social action and justice. We serve among those seeking and celebrating the integration of their spirituality and sexuality."

Green Bay Angels of Hope Metropolitan Community Church to Dedicate "New" Building Nov. 16

Editor's Note: Reverend Ken Hull, pastor of Angels of Hope MCC Church (Green Bay & Appleton) speaks candidly with Quest. We think you will find his comments informative, interesting and thought provoking.

Quest: Reverend Hull, we understand there are some exciting things happening at Angels of Hope. Perhaps you could lay out the calendar for the next few weeks and share it with us.

Ken Hull: All right! We had our real estate closing for our new church building on October 15. We had our first Sunday morning worship service there on October 26. A great time of celebration then!

It's interesting to note Positive Voice met in our building (on October 20) before we did.

Q: Speaking of groups which meet at Angels, the word about the community is that Angels of Hope is also pretty much a community center. Is that true?

KH: Yes, it is. We do have an AA group which meets on Sunday mornings; we have another Monday evening AA group. Bay City Chorus is now having their Sunday practices at our church, (our own choir rehearses on Thursday nights with Eric as the director) and Positive Voice holds their meetings there, too; and any other group in the community....we'll make a way to have room for them.

Q: It's a simple matter of calling the church office, correct?

KH: Yes, and getting it into our schedule so we don't have a time or date conflict. In our new facility, we have the sanctuary and fellowship hall downstairs. So, actually, two groups could be meeting at the same time, if need be.

Q: We need to know the address of the new church.

KH: Okay, that is 3607 Libal Street; that about's three or four blocks on south of where highway 172 crosses Libal.

Q: If you were to go south on Baird in Green Bay, you'd find yourself on Libal?!

KH: That's right; it turns into Libal Street.

Reverend Hull...on the Promise Keepers

Q: We'd like to ask you about your views on the Promise Keepers, which has been getting intense media coverage lately. What's your take on them, Reverend Hull?

KH: Well, I'm a little confused about them. After I listened to them on the TV of McCartney and others as they talk, why they sound like they're really a good situation as men come and promise to straighten themselves up and go home and be loving and caring and leading in their homes. Yet, when I heard them speak about the gays and lesbians (of course, lesbians...pause...women aren't in it anyway). But, for the gays; well, yes, they need to reach out to us in love, but we gotta change our ways. So, certainly, it is not truly reaching out to our community and accepting us for the way God created us.

Q: So, is it fair to say you think they missed the mark on Love One Another?

KH: I think so. Their love is conditional.

Q: Reverend Hull, as MCC Church approaches its eleventh anniversary in Green Bay, tell us about your membership as it stands now and your plans for the future.

KH: Of course, we've been just growing and right now our membership (excluding those who visit regularly) stands at 57. That's quite a move from about seven members as of two years ago, when we came here.

Q: Astounding! Tell us about your Appleton church; is that moving as you had hoped and prayed?

KH: Yes, it's moving along. We have twelve, fifteen, twenty in our worship service there. It's growing. We've just been there since late May, so it is growing....it's kind of where we expected it to be. On October 19, there were 23 attending our Appleton service!

Oh, we also have an AA group which meets Tuesday nights at our Appleton facility.

Q: Let's assume, Reverend Hull, that one wanted to check out Angels of Hope and is thinking about joining. What does one do?

KH: Okay. Well, the first good thing would be to come and worship with us and get a feel of who we are and that type of thing. They could talk with me, and, basically, we have a videotape to share which gives a background - a history - of the Metropolitan Community Church. If they'd like to be a member, it is open to them. They probably need to take a little time to get to know us. The door is open! Come worship with us!

Doesn't seem to be a lot of new news out there, so I will take some time in the fetish department -- Only because the Skin Two Rubber Ball is happening Mon., Nov. 3., in London. Just in case you're going, call 0181 968 9692, (have your credit card ready) for reservation. WWW.SKINTWO.CO.UK (I don't know if case sensitive), on the net

This is not the gospel according to Dr. Ruth -- just me going on about issues that relate to the Leather/Fetish community. When I first agreed to this column, I had hoped to share experiences that persons of my vintage had. By doing so, the outsider looking in can get a feel for our humanness as we entered this "sub culture". By the way, this Leather Fetish culture is pan gendered. It is not limited to Gay, males, etc. I'll bet even Jessie Helms had a kinky side long ago.

I wish I knew this stuff when I was a kid.

FETISH --

Do you remember when, as a child, you felt something was strange about the feeling you had for an object, situation etc? You just knew it wasn't socially acceptable, you kept your thoughts to yourself and your mouth shut. Your childhood wet dreams had the object(s) or situation(s) as the reoccurring stimuli.

You just knew you were alone with these thoughts, no other person in the whole world was like you. Most of you know what I am talking about because you have been there. You know the feeling and the nape hair is probably quivering as you read this.

Now then, do you recall the time when you found another who had the same interest and how good it was to share your "awful secret" with that person? Do you remember the first touch of the item(s) of your affection? You almost pop a load right on the spot. I recall chapter and verse of my first encounter.

First let's accept fetish for what it is. "Merriam-Webster, 1974 ed." - 1: an object (as an idol or image) believed to have magical powers. 2. an object of unreasoning devotion or concern, 3. an object whose real or fantasized presence is psychologically necessary for sexual gratification. --

Let's leave out 1 & 2, for writing about good luck charms, amulet, talisman, icons and the like is not what I am here for.

Regarding definition # 3, a lot has changed since 1974 and the more modern acceptance (as I understand it) is "a fetish can be an object or a situation that heightens sexual pleasure. This disagrees with "necessary for sexual gratification".

Most of us have, in one form or other and to one degree or other, at least one fetish. These are usually very normal and usually come about in childhood and usually because of an innocent happening.

The difference between normal and obsessive fetish fantasies ("necessary for sexual gratification" type) can be compared to enjoying a plain banana split versus needing one with whipping cream, nuts, cherries and sprinkles before you can eat it.

Rubber, leather, boots, PVC, high heels, nylon stockings etc., etc. are fetish objects that, if connected with, can produce a heightened sexual experience for those into it.

Remember the movie, "Airplane," and the gladiators comment? Fantasizing about them, bondage, wrestling, VA, S&M, mud wrestling, cross dressing etc., are situation examples.

The list of normal fetishes persons have, extend far beyond our imaginations. They don't seem to go away and if they vary, they keep coming back to the common denominator.

Where am I going with this?? - - First, you should know that unless you carry this too far, ie causing injury to yourself or others, you are normal and are not alone. Secondly, YOU DON'T HAVE TO UNDERSTAND ANOTHER'S FETISH, but you must respect that persons right to be different.

Further, you (using some discretion) should feel comfortable sharing your "kink" with friends and potential bunk mates (maybe best after the first or second date). You will be surprised how many are out there just like you. If you don't believe me, just get on the net and look around.

A bit of advice - - If you've reeled Mr. Right in with your hot tight leather and big studly boots, don't take him home; excuse yourself and reappear with fish net stockings and stilettos. It is misleading and don't be surprised when he bolts for the door and points you out to his friends.

Play it cool and enjoy for you are a creature of the universe, with every right to be yourself.

If you have a subject you would like to know more about, please let me know. Maybe next time, I'll get into some unfinished stuff out of the way.

Singsational Productions to Perform at Truman's Nov. 4

Regulars at Milwaukee's M&M Club, Singsational Productions will chart "new waters" when they appear at Truman's, 7924 W. Appleton Ave., on Milwaukee's northwest side, on Tuesday, Nov. 4, from 9-11 p.m.

A Singsational spokesperson said the group "is looking forward, and we want all our friends and fans to know they will be welcomed with open arms. The club has a large well-lighted parking lot...nice people, nice club!"

"We are hoping we can work out a deal with Truman and Maria to appear at their club on a regular basis. So, very frankly, an excellent showing for us on Tuesday, Nov. 4, will be great...and greatly appreciated!"

The Chanticleer is situated on 30 private acres perfect for a romantic Door County Getaway.
